It is strictly prohibited for any employee to be directly or indirectly involved in any activity that facilitates money laundering, the financing of terrorism and Weapons of Mass Destruction, to participate in any transaction that may conceal its illicit nature, or to support, be a party to, or actively participate in any such activity.

In this context, in all transactions that Tofaş is a party;

- Due Diligence and, where appropriate, Enhanced Due Diligence⁴ ("EDD") should be conducted on a regular basis in accordance with legal requirements to identify Business Partners and customers,
- If unusual and suspicious activities are detected, the transaction should be investigated in detail, stopped immediately if necessary and the legal authorities should be informed.⁵

4. APPLICATION OF THE POLICY

4.1. Know Your Business Partner ⁶

Prior to establishing an ongoing business relationship with a Business Partner, and periodically throughout the established business relationship, or even for one-time transactions of significant size depending on the company's activities and financial structure, the business units are responsible for conducting Due Diligence using a screening tool by taking all necessary commitments in accordance with all the legislation on the protection of personal data in force in the countries where Tofaş operates. In order to ensure the effective implementation of this study, the following points shall be considered:⁷

- The tax office and numbers of Business Partners, as well as the valid identity and address information of their authorized representatives and (if applicable) shareholders, are determined. The information obtained must be verified if necessary, within the framework of the relevant legislation or if there are doubts as to its reliability and validity. In addition, the identification of the Ultimate Beneficial Owners (UBO) is carried out in accordance with the legislation. Detailed information is obtained about the profession, industry, source of income, duration of operation in that business line, and commercial history.
- Information is obtained on the nature and level of activity of existing and potential business relationships with Tofaş.
- Information is obtained on the countries and regions in which the declared business is carried out⁸
- When establishing and maintaining a business relationship, a screening tool is used to regularly check national/international sanctions lists and negative media reports to determine whether the Business Partner⁹ or UBO has been involved in financial or other serious crimes, as well as any potential risks related to sanctions and export control regulations.¹⁰

⁴ For details, please refer to Tofaş Supply Chain Compliance Policy and Tofaş Sanctions and Export Controls Policy.

⁵ Legal authorities shall be informed by a lawyer appointed by the Legal and Compliance Department or by an external lawyer.

⁶ All identity verification procedures set out in this policy also apply to customers with whom a permanent business relationship is established.

⁷The primary responsibility for the listed processes belongs to the Business Units.

⁸ Business units are required to pay particular attention to business relationships and transactions with natural and legal persons, unincorporated entities and citizens of countries at risk, and to gather and record information, to the extent possible, on the purpose and nature of transactions that do not have a reasonable legal and economic purpose.

⁹ If the counterparty is a legal entity, necessary checks on shareholders (if any) and legal representatives are also conducted through the screening tool.

¹⁰ For details, please refer to Tofaş Sanctions and Export Controls Policy.

- Internet, media screening and other databases are used to confirm whether the Business Partner¹¹ or UBO is a public official or a PEP.
- All information, documents, and records obtained are periodically updated and retained for a minimum of 8 years from the date of the last transaction.

If, as a result of the due diligence, taking into account all information received, a negative finding, a reasonable suspicion or a possible violation of this Policy or the law is identified, the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş must be informed immediately. The Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş may decide to stop the transaction or conduct Enhanced Due Diligence ("EDD"). In this case, the CEO is informed about the compliance risks identified and the possible impact of these risks on Tofaş and the measures suggested to be taken in case of establishing, terminating or continuing a business relationship. The CEO shall make the decision to establish, continue or terminate the business relationship taking into account the assessments and recommendations of the relevant EDD report. Decisions taken with the approval of the CEO shall be reported by the Legal and Compliance Department to Main Shareholders upon their request and the entire process shall be subject to internal audit, if deemed necessary. In case of doubt, the business units or the officers shall consult the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş.

At the stage of signing a contract with a Business Partner, Tofaş shall ensure that the relevant persons are informed about this Policy. Furthermore, Tofaş reserves the right to terminate the contract or apply other penalties in the event of a violation of the Policy.

4.2. Suspicious Transactions

If any suspicion arises that the assets involved in the transaction have been obtained illegally or used for illegal purposes, used to finance terrorism, or are related or connected to the same, the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş should be informed immediately via the Suspicious Transaction Forms.

The following transactions and activities may be considered as examples of suspicious transactions:

- Individuals who do not provide complete information, provide incorrect, inconsistent, or suspicious information, or are reluctant, hesitant or obstructive with respect to reporting and/or recordkeeping requirements,

- Making payments to, or receiving payments from, third parties not named in the relevant contracts, or using exchange offices as intermediaries in transactions,

¹¹ In case the Business Partner is a legal entity, the necessary checks and screenings for shareholders (if any) and legal representatives are also carried out through the screening tool.

Stricter measures may be applied and the list of high-risk jurisdictions may be expanded by the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş in consultation with Main Shareholders.

- Making payments to "shell bank" accounts or to individuals or entities located in countries known as "tax havens", or transferring funds to/from unrelated foreign countries,
- Payments to or from organizations where it is not possible to identify the ownership structure or determine the Ultimate Beneficial Owner (UBO),
- Transactions involving persons whose names appear on lists of persons suspected of money laundering as a result of checks carried out using the screening tool,
- Payments made in small amounts and through several different financial institutions.

It is important for all employees to be vigilant in this regard, to act decisively and in accordance with procedures if a risky transaction is identified, and to consult the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş if in doubt.

4.3. Training

Under the coordination of the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş, various training and awareness-raising activities are organized to create a common corporate culture, taking into account the legislation, this Policy and other relevant internal procedures regarding the prevention of laundering the proceeds of crime, financing of terrorism and weapons of mass destruction. These activities are carried out in accordance with the latest local and international regulations and regularly reported by the Legal and Compliance Department of Tofaş to Main Shareholders upon their request.

5. AUTHORITY AND RESPONSIBILITIES

All employees and directors of Tofaş are responsible for complying with this Policy, implementing and supporting the Tofaş's procedures and controls in accordance with the requirements of this Policy. Tofaş also expects and takes necessary steps to ensure that all its Business Partners to the extent applicable, comply with and/or act in accordance with this Policy.

If there is a discrepancy between the local regulations, applicable in the countries where Tofaş operates, and this Policy, the stricter of the two shall prevail, unless such practice is in violation of the relevant local laws and regulations.
